

Church in the Making

by C. John Weborg, p. 51

In his final column, C. John Weborg addresses the multi-national ministry of Jesus in the manger and at the cross.

1. C. John Weborg wrote his first column for The Covenant Companion in January of 1987. Where were you in 1987?
2. What do you think “church in the making” means?
3. In addition to the manger and the cross, when else did Jesus minister to despised or marginalized people?
4. Weborg says it was his privilege to serve “first the gospel and then the church.” What is the difference between the two? What tensions have you experienced between them in your own life of ministry?
5. Weborg charges congregations to reach out to a diversity of people. How is your church meeting this challenge?
