

Who Do You Say That I Am?

By Jopsan Flores, Devyn Chambers Johnson, Dominique Gilliard, Paul H. Betancourt, Eva Sullivan-Knoff, and Jim Hampton, p. 22

Stereotypes and labels often blind us to the person sitting next to us each Sunday. Here's what six Covenanters want you to know.

1. Do you prefer talking face to face or by telephone or online?
2. Could you identify with any of the stereotypes depicted in this feature?
What stereotypes or labels do you feel people attach to you?
3. Whose story do you think could be added to the six stories featured in this article?
4. How does listening to these six individuals help you to see your church community differently?
5. If you could sit down for coffee with one of these authors, who would you choose first and what would you want to say?
