

Unite Us

p. 18

How the leaders of tomorrow are leading us today. Voices from CHIC.

1. Did you attend CHIC or another similar youth conference when you were younger? What do you remember most about the experience?
2. Each student in this feature was asked what it means to them for the church to “unite.” How would you answer that question?
3. Many of the students in this article talked about allowing for people’s differences and making room for everyone to be themselves. In what ways could you welcome and include those who are different from you?
4. What similarities do you see between these nine students and the young people you encounter in your church, family, or community?
5. Which comments from the students surprised or impressed you most?
