

Seek the Giver, Not the GIFs

By Jelani Greenidge, p. 34

The dangers of GIFs and the Apostle Paul

1. Are you most apt to respond on social media with a written comment, an emoji, or a GIF?
2. Jelani Greenidge realizes that the GIF he has been using to express surprise held a much deeper meaning. Why does it matter if we take images out of context?
3. Where do you most often see problems with biblical literacy in American culture?
4. How does the fact that the Apostle Paul is talking about money change our understanding of Philippians 4:13?
5. Greenidge ends by saying, “If we want to know this God better, we can’t be satisfied with learning his story in tiny, bite-sized pieces.” Where do you most often go to learn God’s story?
